KGI’s Postbaccalaureate programs are uniquely designed for those aspiring to attend medical school or physician assistant programs by enhancing students’ undergraduate degree with graduate-level science courses and advanced business studies that will truly help differentiate their candidacy in today’s competitive climate.

The education will not only help with the acceptance to medical or PA school, but will develop invaluable skills such as leadership, teamwork, and communication that are essential as future clinicians. KGI’s programs are specifically designed for students that have already completed all of the necessary pre-requisite courses.

Look forward to exploring how KGI could be an option for you!
