San José State University - San José, California

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT - CAPS PREDOCTORAL RESIDENT

Subject to Budgetary Approval

PROGRAM OVERVIEW:

The major goal of the SJSU CAPS’ Training Program is to provide high quality learning experiences to postdoctoral residents, psychology interns, and advanced practicum counselors (hereafter referred to as “trainees”) in counseling and clinical psychology in preparation for a career in mental health. To help attain this goal, the counseling faculty has a strong commitment to supervise, teach, and mentor our trainees. Our training is guided by a Practitioner-Scholar model in which we train clinicians to be informed of theory and research in the science of Psychology.

Our supervisors represent a broad base of theoretical backgrounds, thus trainees are exposed to various models. We emphasize short-term treatment approaches that meet the needs of a diverse student body. We are committed to training for work in a diverse world. While the field of psychology as a whole has embraced the importance of multicultural awareness and competence, this is a commitment that we reaffirm daily. We live and work in the midst of one of the most diverse communities in the world and provide trainees experiences to engage in social justice work.

We strive to provide trainees with challenging and developmentally appropriate training experiences. We accomplish this by emphasizing training that is sequential, cumulative, and graded in complexity. We provide didactic trainings, experiential learning (direct service), mentorship, and role modeling from various staff members. We encourage self-examination and awareness of the impact of self on others.

At CAPS we believe that different levels of trainees have different developmental needs. We work with postdoctoral residents, health service psychology interns, and advanced practicum counselors. Thus, some trainees will be separated for various training activities, while for other components of training all trainees will meet together in order to optimize the diverse perspectives that arise when combining various training levels.

We are proud members of the Association of Counseling Center Training Agencies (ACCTA) – a national organization for training programs within university counseling centers. Our internship training is a member of the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC). Our internship has been accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA) since 2012 and is scheduled for a site visit in 2019.

CAPS abides by the Ethical Principles of Psychologists and Code of Conduct. Our internship and postdoctoral programs meet state licensure requirements and provides broad training covering all the major areas of knowledge and skills expected of a psychologist in a university counseling center setting (Standard 7.01), provides an accurate description of the training program, goals and objectives, stipends, benefits and exit criteria (Standard 7.02), provides training as described in the program materials (Standard 7.03), does not require interns to disclose or discuss personal information except as it is related to their developing skills and professional effectiveness (Standard 7.04), does not mandate outside therapy experiences (Standard 7.05), provides evaluations of interns in a timely manner (Standard 7.06), and prohibits sexual relationships between interns and supervisory staff (Standard 7.07).

COMPONENTS OF THE CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGICAL INTERNSHIP TRAINING PROGRAM

There are four major component areas of the Training Program. These areas are Cultural Diversity, Training, Direct Service, and Indirect Service.

Cultural Diversity:

Candidate must demonstrate awareness and experience understanding the needs of a student population of great diversity – in age, cultural background, ethnicity, primary language and academic preparation – through inclusive course materials, teaching strategies and advisement.
This component is considered to be the most important of the training program for interns and is woven throughout all other components. Cultural diversity themes appear in individual and group sessions, supervision, in the outreach programming in which interns take part, in the training seminar presentations, and in clinical meetings. In addition, there are many seminar experiences that focus on developing self-awareness of cultural identities. Interns together with practicum counselors at CAPS have the unique opportunity to participate in the Diversity Process Group and together with practicum and post-doc counselors have the opportunity to participate in the Social Justice and Outreach Seminar. Additionally, CAPS hosts an annual one-day Multicultural Training Day conference, which psychology interns attend.

Training: Seminars

1. Didactic Training Seminar (psychology interns and practicum counselors): The Training Seminar is led by one licensed Psychologist. During the weekly Training Seminar, various clinical topics are presented and discussed by faculty at CAPS and outside presenters. Common training topics include: intervention skills for brief therapy models, domestic violence, cultural-double-bind, working with specific cultural populations (e.g., ethnic groups, international students, sexual identity, gender identity), boundaries/multiple relationships and ethical issues, suicide and violence assessment, professional development (e.g., applying for next training positions, preparation for licensure in psychology, job interviews), eating disorders, substance abuse, and empirically-supported treatments for various presenting concerns and client populations. The exact content of the trainings varies based on the needs of the training cohort.

2. Diversity Process Group (psychology interns and practicum counselors): The Process Group in Diversity is an opportunity for trainees to develop their awareness in diversity through discussion and experiential process. Our agency believes that self-awareness is vital to the development of the competent practitioner. Trainees may be invited to present on their own cultural identity. Staff may be invited into the seminar to model sharing about their own unique identity statuses. Psychology interns are combined with practicum counselors for this experience. It is the Training Committee’s philosophy that including a diverse group of individuals (including diversity in training levels) enriches the discussion in this seminar. In order to ensure the emotional safety of trainees, information discussed in this seminar is entirely confidential and is not part of the evaluation process.

3. Social Justice and Outreach Seminar (all trainees): The Social Justice and Outreach Seminar is led by 1-2 licensed Psychologists. Trainees will discuss the role of psychologists in addressing social justice issues that may prevent or alleviate mental health struggles; explore the relationship between social justice and the development of outreach services and programs; and may help in developing specialization areas in which they focus their outreach and group efforts (e.g., LGBT student services, cross-cultural center, international students, substance abuse, eating disorders and body image, suicide prevention). Psychology interns are combined with practicum counselors and postdoctoral residents for this experience. It is the Training Committee’s philosophy that including a diverse group of individuals (including diversity in training levels) enriches the discussion in this seminar. Psychology interns benefit from learning of the outreach experiences of the Multicultural Postdoctoral Residents and may have opportunities to collaborate with the Residents on projects. Information regarding performance in this seminar may be provided to the individual supervisor for inclusion in the semester evaluation process.

4. Supervision of Groups & Workshops (psychology interns only): The Group seminar is led by a licensed psychologist. This seminar toward clinical supervision hours. The seminar focuses on assisting and supervising trainees as they develop, market, and co-lead therapy groups and psychoeducational workshops. Psychology interns are required to co-lead therapy groups with a staff member or a Multicultural Postdoctoral Resident. Information regarding performance in this seminar, as well as performance when leading groups and workshops, may be provided to the individual supervisor for inclusion in the semester evaluation process.

5. Testing and Measurement Seminar (psychology interns only): The testing and measurement seminar is led by 1-2 licensed psychologists. The seminar is designed to review tests and measures originally introduced in doctoral programs and to emphasize the cultural complexities of interpreting testing data. Psychology interns will be required to present on a testing instrument of their choice. In addition interns must complete a small battery assessment and provide a presentation on their case including a discussion regarding ethical issues in the administration of test instruments and diagnosing a client. Information regarding clinical skills developed in this seminar may be provided to the individual supervisor for inclusion in the semester evaluation process.
Supervision/Case Consultation

1. Individual (1:1) Supervision: CAPS meets or exceeds the supervision requirement in the CA Board of Psychology’s Supervised Professional Experience (SPE) regulation. Each psychology intern will be provided with supervision for at least 10% of the total time worked each week. At least two hours per week of individual face-to-face supervision are provided each week. Supervisor assignments for the Fall semester are made by the Training Committee. Psychology interns are required to change supervisors during the second semester to obtain a breadth of orientations, techniques, and styles. For the second semester, trainees’ preferences for supervisors are solicited and considered in assignments made by the Training Committee. Every effort is made to match requests.

2. Group Supervision: Group supervision occurs one hour per week. Group supervision is led by a licensed Psychologist and possibly one of the postdoctoral residents. Group supervision provides a forum for discussing clinical work and improving clinical skills. Group supervision also provides the format for presenting formal case presentations (see “Other Training Opportunities”).

3. Clinical Consultation Meeting: This one hour weekly meeting is for counselor faculty, educational counselors, psychiatrist at SHC, and trainees. It is an opportunity to present cases to one another and engage in consultation. The emphasis in this meeting is to view our work as a team effort to provide the best possible and most clinically appropriate and ethical service to our SJSU students.

4. Video Recording: In order to provide specific and in-depth feedback, supervisors require psychology interns to video-record all client sessions. Recorded sessions are provided to the trainees’ supervisor and may be reviewed with the trainee during supervision or outside of supervision times. Trainees inform clients of the recording requirements at the same time they inform clients of their supervision, which is usually during the first session. Should a client not want to be recorded, the client will be reassigned to a non-recording counselor within the agency. Sessions are digitally recorded and stored on a secure server for at least 1 month. Recorded sessions are for training purposes only and are not available for use outside of CAPS. If a client wishes to obtain recorded sessions, the trainee must consult with their primary supervisor. Any recording taken out of CAPS is a violation of this policy and subject to disciplinary actions.

Direct Service: Direct service hours are provided through individual, couple, and group counseling sessions; outreach presentations; and assessment/crisis coverage. The provision of direct service hours are done through consultation with your primary supervisor. Psychology interns are expected to accrue approximately 22 hours of direct service per week in Fall and Spring and up to 24 hours in Summer. A primary supervisor, in consultation with the Training Coordinator and Associate Director, may adjust the amount of direct service hours provided by an intern.

1. Individual/Couple Psychotherapy: Psychology interns are expected to accrue the majority of the direct service hours through work with individual clients. The size of the caseload varies considerably depending on whether clients are seen weekly or less often. Clinical load may also vary during slower times of the year, such as winter break and the beginning of fall semester, and higher during peak times such as midterms and finals.

2. Group Therapy: Psychology interns may be involved in providing group counseling. Formation of groups will be discussed during orientation, individual supervision, and the Group on Groups and Workshops Seminar. Psychology interns are required to co-lead counseling groups with a counselor faculty in the Fall with the possibility of co-leading with a Multicultural Postdoctoral Resident in the Spring. Interns should receive 30 min supervision with their co-leader who will be a licensed clinician and group supervision in the Group on Groups seminar.

3. Outreach and Workshops: Psychology interns are expected to be involved in various CAPS programming. Psychology interns are encouraged to gain presentation skills by observing and then co-presenting/presenting psycho-educational workshops. Interns are required to deliver and be evaluated on a minimum of one workshop per semester (Fall and Spring), although our expectation is that interns will exceed this requirement. The observer, a counselor faculty or postdoctoral resident, will complete a feedback form which will be reviewed with the intern and provided to the individual supervisor.

Trainees are encouraged to present psycho-educational workshops as part of the “Spartan Success Series” that is managed by Educational Counselors at CAPS. Topics may include: stress management, internet addiction, time management, cross-cultural communication skills. Trainees may also be part of programs presented... during re-occurring campus events such as Eating Disorders Awareness Week, Sexual Assault Awareness Week, or African American History month. Trainees may establish consultation relationships with any number of student organizations or offices, including: Gender Equity Center, MOSAIC Cross-Cultural Center, Athletics Department, Residence Life, Accessible Education Center, The Greek System, Mental Health Ambassadors (student group de-stigmatizing mental health services), and Peers In Pride (LGBTQ mentoring program) or the larger Pride Center. Time spent on these projects varies widely. Psychology interns are welcome to suggest programs based on their interest areas.

4. Outcome Assessment of Clinical Work: CAPS does not offer formal training in collecting quantitative outcome data on the psychological services provided to clients. However, supervisors are willing to work with trainees within the scope of the supervisor’s competencies. Trainees will assume the responsibility of consulting with their academic training programs to determine how many outcome measures need to be delivered during the training year and may need to acquire those measures through the doctorate program. Trainees also will assume the responsibility of identifying outcome measures that are culturally relevant with a diverse student population. Any measures administered at CAPS will remain part of the client’s file and that data cannot leave CAPS.

5. Assessment and Crisis Coverage: Psychology Interns will be required to have 4 assessment appointments per week (4 x 30 minute assessments or 2 hours); assessment appointments are generally the entry point for our students and are scheduled appointments that last approximately 20 minutes and are designed to “assess” the student’s reason for wanting personal counseling and assess for risk. After the assessment, if determined to be appropriate for our services, the student is either scheduled an intake or personal returning or placed on the waitlist to be assigned to an appropriate counselor (this depends on schedules and time of the semester).

CAPS generally provides crisis services between 8am and 5pm Monday to Friday. Each semester, a variety of crisis cases demand our attention. These include walk-in clients who seem to be in crisis, calls from staff in the residence halls, or requests from faculty or staff to consult about troubled students. Psychology Interns are required to have 2 hours of crisis coverage and 2 hours of crisis backup per week, during which you manage any crises that arise/come into the center. In addition to the assigned shift, from time to time all counselors may be called on to assist with crisis situations. Psychology interns are not responsible for after-hour emergency coverage.

Indirect Service:

1. Meeting with Training Coordinator: Psychology interns have bi-weekly 30 minute meetings with their training coordinator. This time is used to check-in, go over administrative tasks, and to help the interns adjust to the agency and to their internship program.

2. Peer Support Lunches: Psychology interns are encouraged to attend a weekly lunch meeting to support each other and process their unique developmental experiences. Meetings may focus on supporting each other through transitions, increasing accountability regarding progress on dissertations, discussing issues that come up around working in CAPS, and processing the dynamics within the cohort.

3. Case Management: Psychology interns schedule time into their weekly schedules to complete their case records, review session recordings, and attend to other administrative tasks. In addition, certain blocks of free time for this will present themselves from time to time (e.g., cancellations, no-shows).

4. Other Consultation, Club, or Committee Work: In the past, trainees have become involved with other organizations that correspond to their own interests. These have included the Career Services; Health Services; MOSAIC Cross-cultural Center; Cesar Chavez Community Action Center; Pride Center; Gender Equity Center; Athletic Department, etc.

5. Attendance at Division or Departmental Meetings and Functions: Our program values exposure to the larger picture of university functions and collaboration with other campus units. Thus, psychology interns attend various meetings throughout the year that involve the larger staff and faculty of San José State University. These include: Division of Student Affairs Professional Development Day, Division of Student Affairs Meetings, and various university social functions or celebrations.
Other Training Opportunities:

1. Case Presentations: Psychology interns are required to give one formal case presentation each semester (Fall and Spring). Case presentations are delivered during the Group Supervision meetings. Supervisors may assist trainees in any manner they wish with case presentations (e.g., review write-up, attend presentation). The psychology intern will receive written feedback from the group supervision leaders and this information may be provided to the primary supervisor for inclusion in semester evaluations.

2. All Staff Trainings: CAPS values ongoing trainings for all levels of trainees and faculty and staff. Thus, CAPS provides between 2 – 3 trainings for all clinical staff, including trainees, each academic year. These presentations may be provided by staff/faculty within the Department or by outside presenters.
