Maintaining Status

- Why it’s important? If you fail to maintain your F-1 student status, you will not be eligible for ALL types of employment, including on-campus.

Keywords:
- Part-time: 20 hours per week
- Full-time: More than 20 hours per week
- USCIS: The government agency that adjudicates (reviews and approves) the I-765 and additional required OPT application materials.
- Authorization: Students need to be authorized for OPT
- Status: Refers to regulations/responsibilities F-1 students are required to follow and maintain while studying in the U.S. (I-20, I-94)
- Visa: An entry document that may expire after you enter the U.S.
- EAD: Your official work permit for OPT, also known as your “EAD card”
- Grace Period: The 60-day period after your degree program end date on your I-20 AND after you complete 12 months of OPT (there are two possible grace periods)
- I-765: USCIS Application for employment. Must submit this to the government.
- I-797: OPT application (I-765) receipt notice from USCIS
- Unemployment Days: The 90-day period students are provided after the approved start date on their EAD to find and report a job. (This is NOT your grace period).
Social Security Number (SSN)

What is it?
- An SSN is used to report your wages to the U.S. government.

When can I apply for an SSN?
- There’s a section (part 2) on the I-765 in which you can choose to apply for your SSN
- You may also apply AFTER you receive your EAD card and find a job.

When can I begin working?
- Most employers will require you to have your SSN before starting work
- Estimated Social Security Administration processing is 2-4 weeks (can take longer due to Pandemic)

Safeguard your SSN; keep in safe place; prevent identity theft. Granted to you for a lifetime (you only need one SSN!)
What is OPT?

- OPT stands for “Optional Practical Training.” According to the government, OPT is defined as “temporary employment that is directly related to an F-1 student’s major area of study.”
- 12 months of work authorization are provided altogether between Post-AND Pre-Completion OPT
- Must submit application to the government (I-765)
- Pre-completion OPT is authorized during your studies
- Post-Completion OPT is authorized after you complete your degree

I-765 fee is $410.00
